

Parental rights to withdraw children from school activities

Sex education

Parents can ask to withdraw their child from parts or all of sex education taught as part of PSHE. Parents cannot withdraw their child from sex education taught in science.

Religious education

Schools have to teach RE but parents can withdraw their children for all or part of the lessons.

Collective Worship

Parents have a right to withdraw children from some or all of our Collective Worship programme.

Parents considering withdrawing children from Sex Education, Religious Education or Collective Worship are encouraged to make an appointment to discuss the programmes and their content with the Headteacher before doing so.